From central Ohio we learn that heavy rains prevailed there on Sunday and Monday last, producing in some localities quite a flood. If the theory that storms make from east to west is true, we may look for our portion soon.

D. M. Burnett & Co. have a fresh lot of choice lemons and oranges.

Charles May drew a good house last night and gave a good show of its kind. The great variety of acts and the style in which they are all done, keeps everybody in the best of humor, and occasionally the house "comes down" with a perfect storm of applause.

Families who desire to have their names announced in the list of those who intend to keep open house on New Year's Day, will please make the fact known to-morrow morning. This list will appear in to-morrow's paper.

Bear in mind that Curtis & Hightler have the most complete stock of jewelry in the city. Don't buy anything in that line until you have examined their stock and prices. Remember the place, Lillison's old stand. [30-43]

Harrigan & Hart, with their splendid comedy dramatic troupe, are to be here on Saturday night, on which occasion they will present their masterpiece, "The Doyle Brothers." In the line of comedy this play has never been excelled in Decatur, and as Harrigan & Hart are its originators, they know exactly how to put it upon the boards. Their entertainment will be one of the finest treats ever enjoyed by a Decatur audience.

The Surgeons of the International Surgical Institute will visit this city on the 10th day of January, 1876, and can be found at the St. Nicholas Hotel. This old Eastern Institute has removed to St. Louis, Mo., their main house, and through the strongest opposition are rapidly gaining favor among the crippled and deformed. Their surgeons are among the most distinguished in the land, having established in the East in 1853, and since that time have treated more club feet and hands, spinal and hip diseases, crooked limbs, paralysis and eye and ear diseases, than any institute in the world.

RIGHTS INDICATION.

DECATUR, ILL., Dec. 29, 1875.

Eds. REPUBLICAN:—Will you give me space in your valuable paper to tell the editor of the Champaign Gazette what the girls of Decatur think of him. I read his scandalous sentiments about girls in the weekly Republican, and to tell you I was mad, would give you but a faint idea of the demon of anger that had been raging within me, and has kept me in such a state of rage that I have been too full for "afternoon" until now. I feel that I am utterly incapable of doing the subject justice, but like the "drops of rain" I'll do what I can. Let me take a long breath, and then I'll begin.

He is an old fogey, a fraud, a disgrace to the masculine gender, and the essence of everything mean, boiled down and served up in the shape of a man. And so loathers, who stand around street corners and church doors, are in demand. Well, they certainly are in Champaign, or the people would never tolerate him. And he thinks the girls like to be looked at. Of course they do. It's one of the laws of nature, and we don't deny it, but we do declare that we detest, abhor and despise, to be stared at by the class that he represents and tries to vindicate. I never had the misfortune to see him, but I would not be afraid to wager my "false hair" that he had been imbibing some of the beverage for which his town is named, when he gave vent to that vile effusion. When I read it I cried: Shame upon him for writing it! Shame upon the printers who set the type! And shame upon the people who support such a sheet! It is a self-evident fact that slanderers are not in demand, or he would have been "gobblin'" up long ago. If he ever visits Decatur he may be sure of a warm reception, for we'll fire a salute of "split-peas," assent him from the depot on a rail, douse him in the Sagamon, force him to implore the pardon of each and every girl in the city, and then we'll bring out the hose carts, turn on the water and squirt him out of town.

In conclusion I'll exclaim: "Oh, for the good old days of the 'Reign of Terror,' that we might behold him with impunity!"

WARREN & DUNN, Agents.

The Hall Combination.—This superb company is to appear at the opera house this evening. That our readers may get an idea of the piece to be presented, and also of the talent of the actors, we insert the following from a Terre Haute paper:

A large audience was present last evening at the opera house to witness the presentation of "Saragoza" by the Hall Combination. The play is an image of life at Saragoza at the height of the season—the young adventurer, the fast young man, the wily woman with marvellous daughters, and fussy matter-of-fact old man are here brought forth and showed up to view. The "Rehearsal" of "Saragoza" was good, indeed it could not have been better, as the young man who loved not wisely but too well. He showed the lover and the loved how to manage such affairs in a "quadruple manner" and still bring about happy results. Mr. James is one of the finest actors that we have here. He appeared originally in this house comely at Daley's Fifth Avenue Theater, New York, over one hundred nights. The "Papa Vanderpool" of Fred. Chippendale and the "Mrs. Vanderpool" of Mrs. J. H. Rogers were capital, as the frequent applause testified.

Without naming any particular person, we cannot refrain from noticing the splendid acting of Miss Agnes Prentiss as "Virginia Vanderpool," the "pet" of the "union." As to the play it is of the sensational order. "Saragoza" stands in the first rank of its kind, and as produced by this Combination it is well worth the price of admission. The audience is kept in a good humor from the rising of the curtain to the ending of the happy results always attained. This support throughout is excellent, the costumes magnificent and stage effect perfect.

I will offer great bargains in dry goods (in the next ten days), in order to reduce my stock before traveling. dec. 30-dw1w S. EISENBERG.

Ball by the Band.—Our people who "feel so awful jolly when the band begins to play," should be sure and patronize the boys at their grand hop, which comes off at Brennenman's Hall on New Year's eve. The affair is being gotten up in superb style, and no pains will be spared to furnish an entertainment of the first order. We bespeak for the band the consideration which its merits entitle it to.

S. Eisenberg has received another lot of the best standard prints, which he will sell 16 yards for $1.00. [30-dw1]

House Robbed.—Yesterday evening, during the absence of the family, the residence of Dr. Black, North Union St., was robbed. Some fellow who was probably aware of the absence of the inmates, went to the house, and, as it seems, made an attempt to effect an entrance by raising a window. Failing in this, he broke two lights of glass out of the window opening into the Doctor's sleeping room, and, as the bed was directly under the window, he managed to pull off all the covering, including sheets, and made off with it. The sounder's tracks were plainly discernible this morning on a flower-bed near where he stood to carry on his operations. The value of the articles taken is about $25.

Street Parade.—To-morrow about 11 o'clock the band will parade the streets in full uniform, and in the evening will give a grand hop at Brennenman's hall.

DIED.

At his late residence in this city, at 2 o'clock this morning, Dr. STEPHEN WINGATE, aged 55 years.

Funeral services will be held at the First M. E. Church, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

DEATH OF A LONG LIFE.

Death of Dr. Stephen Wingate.

There are few people in Decatur, who have not seen Dr. Stephen Wingate—probably the oldest man in our city—and there are few, also, who will not be interested in reading this brief sketch of the life that closed so peacefully at two o'clock this morning.

Dr. Wingate was born at Rochester, N. H., Sept. 29th, 1787, and was therefore in his eighty-ninth year at the time of his death. In early life he was a traveling preacher in the Methodist Episcopal church, but was forced to abandon the pulpit on account of some throat trouble. It was this which induced him to begin the study of medicine, and as he read he became more and more interested in the profession which he afterwards engaged in as his life work. He was a practicing physician for over half a century, and only retired from the profession a few years ago, when age had made him too feeble to bear its labors. He was a soldier in the war of 1812, and always took a deep interest in the welfare of the country.

About twenty-five years ago he removed from the place where he had resided so many years, Great Falls, N. H., to Decatur, and continued to live here until the time of his death. Until he was past 85 years of age he was a remarkably well-preserved man, and was a most charming conversationalist—full of reminiscences of the days which seem to us youngsters to be almost back in the dark ages. He was a constant reader, and after he had retired from active life he was a frequent visitor at the newspaper office, where he read everything in the shape of current literature which the exchange table afforded.

He leaves a widow, nearly as old as himself, and four children—two sons and two daughters.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Rev. Matthias S. Kaufman, of this city, a student of theology in the Northwestern University, at Evanston, is at home, enjoying the holidays. He will return next week.

A GOOD IDEA.

We are in receipt of a communication from G. W. Vaughan, Esq., of Sullivan, advocating the organization of an agricultural association, comprising several counties, with Macon county as the centre, for the purpose of holding annual fairs, and suggesting that in view of railroad facilities, central location, and excellent grounds, Decatur be made the permanent place for holding the annual exhibitions. The idea is a good one, and our readers will remember that we called attention to the matter in our columns last fall, and urged the importance of the movement. We trust that the matter will be discussed in the papers of those counties which are contiguous to Macon, and that steps will be taken at once to effect an organization and arrange for the holding of a grand union fair next fall. The county fairs they have been arranged for the last few years have amounted to but little, and by a union of several counties, as suggested, a large show could be gotten up. Again we say, let the ball be set in motion by parties accustomed to such things, and plans may be matured in time for a good fair next season.
